PANEL

Zaria Davis, Senior Associate with the Pretrial Justice Institute, will speak on the history and current challenges with the pretrial system and the ways it impacts those exposed to the system. Dr. Davis advocates for safe, equitable, and effective pretrial justice practices and policies through racial justice.

Greer Aeschbury, the Organizing Strategist for the ACLU of Ohio in Southwest Ohio, will update us on the bipartisan companion bills in the Ohio House and Senate that would, in part, no longer incarcerate or free people based on how much money they have. The ACLU in Ohio works on civil liberties issues and organizes people to take action.

Chazidy Bowman, Founder of Opportunities People's Justice Leaders (OPJL), will discuss her husband's story and the lack of monetary resources and opportunities for bail in underserved communities. OPJL works to assure that incarcerated people receive fair and humane treatment and their civil rights are not violated.

This forum is free and open to the public. Questions? wcc@womancityclub.org or 513-751-0100. Woman's City Club is a 106-year civic organization whose mission is a just and sustainable community where all citizens are engaged as informed stakeholders in the shaping of our shared future.
