

John E. Pepper Education Community Service Award

Since 1999, except for the two year covid period, the Cincinnatus Association has presented this award to an individual who has demonstrated commitment, compassion and perseverance as a volunteer on behalf of public education in Cincinnati. This award was established to honor its first recipient, John E. Pepper, who, in addition to distinguishing himself at the very highest levels of corporate responsibility with the Procter & Gamble Company, selflessly dedicated his own volunteer efforts on behalf of Cincinnati public education

Please provide the information below, along with any supporting documents, and submit them to the Cincinnatus Association as also noted below.
